Homesharing:
Home Matches in Chicago's Northern Suburbs

The Interfaith Housing Center of the Northern Suburbs matches individuals who have a spare bedroom with people who are looking for affordable housing near their employment. We try to create “win-win” situations helping homeowners to supplement their incomes or remain independent in their homes by matching them with people who can offer both rent and possibly assistance with light chores. The Homesharing Program is a free, non-sectarian service. Please contact Jacqueline Grossmann at (847) 501-5732, x 401 or visit Interfaith's website: www.interfaithhousingcenter.org.

The Interfaith Housing Center a coalition of faith-based and community organizations and individuals who have been helping people realize their housing rights since 1972.
